

BGC Partners Acquires Mint Partners' Key Businesses

Aug 19, 2010 4:10 PM

NEW YORK & LONDON, Aug 19, 2010 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- BGC Partners, Inc. (NASDAQ: BGCP), a leading global intermediary to the wholesale financial markets, today announced that it has completed the acquisition of various assets and businesses of Mint Partners and Mint Equities through BGC Brokers, L.P., with over 100 brokers from Mint's international business joining BGC.

Mint will conduct business as usual and maintain its unique brand name and market identity as a division of BGC. Teams from Mint and BGC have worked together closely to ensure that Mint's clients find the transition operationally to be seamless.

Shaun Lynn, President of BGC Partners, said, "We are delighted to welcome Richard Barnett, Timothy Bullman, and the highly talented Mint group as part of BGC. Selective acquisitions, hiring experienced brokers, and investing in our proprietary technology have been key drivers of BGC's growth. With the addition and continuing growth of the Mint brand, and the opportunity to offer our globally-recognized, world-class technology platform to our new colleagues, we expect to augment our offerings to clients and expand our customer relationships." Mr. Lynn noted that Mint's co-founders, Messrs. Barnett and Bullman, remain co-CEOs of the Mint business and also have become Senior Managing Directors of BGC.

In a joint statement, Messrs. Barnett and Bullman said, "From our initial focus on the institutional equities market when we created Mint six years ago, the firm's scope has steadily broadened to serving clients across credit, rates, foreign exchange, commodities and energy products. BGC's strong balance sheet, global presence and preeminent technology platform, which were key factors in our decision to become part of BGC, create a tremendous opportunity to bring new capabilities and levels of service to our loyal clients worldwide."

Cantor Fitzgerald acted as an adviser in connection with this transaction.
